The Market Basket Should

Contain Enough to Last From Friday Evening Until Tues-

By MRS. M. A. WILSON Courtest, 1922, by Mrs. M. A. Wilson. All ENTERTAINING a guest of two Dover the week-end sometimes causes the housewife to feel that the must change her entire scheme and replace the regular menu with expensive foods; this often spoils the entire visit, and both the guest and the housewife feel relieved when the visit is over. This is surely a great mistake; plan to entertain guests over the week-end, perhape a dear old friend who would really enjoy the visit, or perhaps some kin-felks of father.
